Milton & Blandford Deanery

Simon Everett is a proud Bristolian whose call to ordination came whilst he was serving as a Deck Officer in the Merchant Navy. After ten years at sea he changed course and set sail for theological college in London. It was to the Bristol diocese he returned to serve his title. But Salisbury diocese beckoned and in 2003 he became Team Vicar in the Wexcombe Team where he served for five and half years. Next came a move to beautiful north Dorset to the Iwerne Valley Benefice, five rural parishes on the edge of the Cranborne Chase. And here he has been for the past twelve years As well as his incumbency Simon has, for the past nine years, been Rural Dean of the Milton and Blandford Deanery. His heart is firmly in rural ministry and he thanks God for calling him to minister in such wonderful parishes.

Dorset DT11 7DG
Telephone: 01258 480092
E-mail Address: tim@bfpc.org.uk

Milton & Blandford Deanery

Tim Storey was born in Bristol in 1960 and was employed in Administration and Sales for a number of small businesses prior to spending two years at Trinity College, Bristol, from 1992 to 1994. This secular employment also involved considerable experience in marketing and print environments leading to an interest as well as developed skills in PR and various forms of publicity. Ordained in Wells in 1994, Tim served as a Curate four years in Lower Weston, Bath, before spending a further five years at Shirley in Southampton, before coming to Blandford Forum and Langton Long in May 2003. During his time in Winchester Diocese, Tim had a list of six Clergy who he acted as a Peer Mentor/Reviewer. Developing the Church in Blandford has been based around the establishing and growing of nine Home Groups, which aim to work according to a Mission Statement which is "Discovering and Nurturing Relationships in Jesus Christ", and the Parish has grown both in numbers and spiritual depth as a result. Tim recently oversaw the building and opening of a Parish Centre costing over half a million pounds which is aimed at being the basis for outreach to the town. Married with two teenage daughters, Tim plays guitar with "Dogs Without Collars", the Clergy Rock Band, is an enthusiastic but hopeless golfer, and has a mad Border Collie called Flo.

The Revd Jean De Garis

The Vicarage
Lytchett Minster
Poole
Dorset BH16 6JQ
Telephone: 01202 622253
E-mail Address: jean@degaris.freemove.co.uk

Poole Deanery

Jean de Garis taught English and Drama in Guernsey for 7 years. I am married to Susan, and have four teenage children, including a daughter with profound special needs. I've been Vicar of Lytchett Minster and Upton since 1998 and Area Dean of Poole since January 2009. I enjoy a wide range of worship styles, and I'm excited about people coming to know Jesus – especially when they have no previous experience of Church life. I like churches to try to have a clear, agreed vision – and to be willing to think outside the box in turning vision into reality. My experience of church leadership has always been in places where there are several clergy and lay colleagues working together.

Jonathan Foster has been ordained since 1986, serving a curacy in Ferndown, 7 years chaplaincy in France where I trained an NSM deacon, and, since 1997 as incumbent at St. Clement's in Upper Parkstone, North Poole. Whilst here I have attended Diocese Training for Training incumbents, including the Coaching course. Here I have trained INSM and 2 Stipendiary curates, one STETS placement student, one ordinand on 4-week placement and two trainee youth workers. I have also done one peer review and am engaged in another at present.

Jane Lloyd - After initial training as an Industrial Chemist and having run the Quality Control Lab in a biscuit factory (don't ask!), I went to Lincoln Theological College in 1977. I was ordained in 1980 and worked for a year as a stipendiary Deaconess in a parish in Lincoln before moving to Salisbury Diocese with my husband when he came to serve his Title at Sherborne Abbey in 1981. I worked as an NSM for four-and-a-half years in Sherborne & Poole Deaneries whilst I had our two daughters. I joined Poole Hospital in 1985 & have in effect undertaken 5 or 6 different jobs as my role has expanded and developed. I currently lead a team of approx. 40 people, ordained, lay, ecumenical and multi-faith; have been involved with various ordinands as Training Incumbent, Placement Supervisor & IME Tutor, have helped design/ write 2 LPA courses and have led and lectured on their various incarnations over nearly 30 years. I was President of the College of Health Care Chaplains from 2002-4 and am the Bishop's Adviser in Healthcare Chaplaincy. My MA dissertation was interrupted by cancer treatment but my journey through various academic courses is very important to me & I love to learn!

Bob Mason Aged 62, ordained 26 years following a career as an Insurance Surveyor. Married to Melanie who is totally involved (unpaid) in church life, and I have a son, Andy, who is ordained, so I have some insights into how ministry impacts upon family life. I have served in urban/town centre parishes with a wide experience in Civic ministry, with numerous additional chaplaincy responsibilities attached to parish life. Particular concerns: encouraging vocations amongst younger members, retaining vitality and relevance in preaching.

Dick Saunders - Married to Jo I have two sons of student age. I have been Team Rector of the Kinson and West Howe Team Ministry since 2000. This is an urban parish of about 20 000 with significant social needs. Prior to that I led a 6 year old church plant on the Eastern edge of London. My theological outlook is open evangelical / charismatic. I am passionate that churches be outward looking and engaged with their communities. I have benefitted from a coaching course which the diocese provided a few years ago and, in supervising others, seek to ask questions to help them clarify and set their own goals.

Wimborne Deanery

Pip Martin studied theology at Cambridge and prepared for ordination at Mirfield. After assistant ministries in Wakefield and Oxford dioceses, I have been vicar of St James', Alderholt, since 1990. I believe that parish ministry is a tough but high calling, and that every parish is a world in microcosm. Loving attention to that 'world' and awareness of how it affects one inwardly are key to understanding our ministry. Prayer and our interaction with Scripture are the essential framework for this constant process of change and growth. My other interests include poetry and literature, country and other sports, drawing, and learning Spanish. I am married with two teenage children.

Wimborne Deanery

Richard Tulloch – vicar of St. John's Church, Wimborne, since 1994. I have read widely and thought deeply about leadership and management issues in mid-sized and larger churches. I have found Bill Hybels and the leadership team at Willow Creek Church in Chicago as very useful models to copy. St. John's is a mainstream evangelical church, with a strong emphasis on the authority of the Bible in all matters moral and spiritual. Our Sunday services are blended in terms of music – traditional and contemporary. I am married to Janet and we have 3 children who are now adults.
