

His Grace, The Most Rev. Dr. Daniel Deng Bul Yak and His Grace, The Most Rev. Paulino Lukudu Loro Register Their Names for Referendum

Tuesday 23 November 2010

In a spirit of fraternity, The Archbishop of the Episcopal Church of the Sudan and the Catholic Archbishop of Juba registered together at Hai Jalaba referendum registration centre today. By registering, they now qualify for voting on Referendum Polling Day scheduled for 9 January 2011. Accompanying them was the presidential advisor on Religious Affairs, H.E Tijwok Adheraguer.

At 10 o'clock that morning the two Archbishops were in line surrounded by an SSTV film crew and an SSRadio reporters eagerly waiting to leave their thumbprints at the table and obtain their referendum cards. There was much laughter and camaraderie between Archbishop Daniel and Archbishop Paulino. They had come together recognising that the Referendum will be a momentous religious issue for the Church in the Sudan. They both spoke briefly about the importance of registering and, importantly, completing the process by voting on polling day.

H.E Tijwok Adheraguer thanked the Archbishops for their commitment to social issues and for actively encouraging people to register for referendum.

They rounded off the event at the school next to the centre greeting the English Language Students.
