

1. Do you live in the Diocese of Salisbury?

As my election address shows and in common with a number of other lay members living in rural areas, no. I live just outside the diocesan edge with its undulating borders and surrounded on three sides by them. My home church for more than a couple of decades is within the diocese. (Paul Boyd-Lee)

During term-time I am a student at Durham University. However, when I am home I worship in the Church of St Peter's, Parkstone, where I am a Sidesperson and Subdeacon, and where my mother is Churchwarden. (Fenella Cannings-Jurd)

Yes. (Chris Corteen)

Yes, I live in Pewsey, towards the north of the diocese. (Gill de Berry)

Yes, North Dorset village of East Stour. (Richard Jones)

I have lived in the diocese for many years and do not have any plans to move away. (Keith Leslie)

Yes. (Debbie Mclsaac)

No I live in the Diocese of Bristol, but worship in the Diocese of Salisbury. (Doreen Riley)

Yes. (Paul Taylor)
